

RANGELAND STRATEGIES

---

June 27, 2018

To The Ranchers of Northern Nevada,

We regret to inform you that due to recent personnel and leadership changes at the Winnemucca District Office of the BLM, those who maintain grazing allotments in this district could face increased scrutiny by the BLM.

Rangeland Strategies is a growing network of independent consultants who have pooled our experience and knowledge to help ranchers protect their grazing allotments. Our consultants have extensive experience working for and with federal agencies. Rangeland Strategies consultants have a very good perspective on what changes you can expect from the Winnemucca District Office and the problems that you will face in trying to keep your livestock on public lands.

As you already know, ranchers across the West face significant challenges from federal agencies combined with a sustained assault from advocacy groups to end grazing on public lands. In particular Nevada Ranchers face challenges every day from the Bureau of Land Management (BLM). The recent changes at the Winnemucca District Office of the BLM will impact each of you in different ways, but they will impact all of you for years to come.

We believe we can help.

We offer free initial consultations to all potential clients, and this is the best way to help us get a full understanding of the current status of your relationship with the BLM. We also offer a low-cost file review, where we will help you acquire your official file with the BLM and make sure there is nothing there that could create problems for you down the road with the agency.

We are also working on organizing an event in your area in the near future, so we can come meet you in person. At this event we plan to share some of the experiences we have had working with some of the BLM employees who have recently been assigned to your district. Even if you choose not use our services, we believe this event will be very informative and worth your time.

You can RSVP to be notified of the details of this event on our website:

We have included the business cards of our most-experienced consultants, and you can contact them any time. You can also visit our website to learn more about our services, our consultants, and our plans to help ranchers like you across the West. We hope to hear from you soon!

Yours in success and prosperity,

The Consultants at Rangeland Strategies
